12/23/72 Your letterof the 18th came today. Thanks for the clips. There remains a mystery about why Harpers is printing Bremer's diary and, if they decided to, why they pay anything. It is public domain. I have a copy. This makes me a bit more interested than I would be in the Harpers' revsion if you see it. The same ad notes Henry Fairlie's coming book on the Kennedy years. He was one of the earlier finks, writing a piece he did not have time to research for the NYTimes magazine in 1966. I have or had it. I have no way of knowing what JP has and says he doesn't.And that was NYTimes. On your coming: any time you want. We have no special plans or commitments. Jil starts work 1/2, which means nothing to you and you create no special problem for her. In haste,
